

TRUCK-TOP TAKEOFF — New technique for potential aerial warfare is this guided missile-like launching of a conventional jet fighter plane near Baltimore, Md. A platform mounted on a truck was used so as to explore the possibility of eliminating runways. An F-84 Thunderjet was modified so booster bottles could be attached to its tail. With the plane's engine running at full speed, the thrust of the booster bottles kicked the fighter off so quickly it was immediately airborne. The technique was developed by the Air Force and the Glenn L. Martin Co.

Magazine Story On Delinquency Irks Senators

WASHINGTON (AP) — A tempest boiled up today within the Senate Juvenile Delinquency subcommittee over the action of two staff aides in writing magazine articles about the group's work before its report is published.

Members were trying to arrange an early meeting to decide whether Herbert W. Beaser, chief counsel of the subcommittee, and Richard Clendenen, its staff director, were justified or should be required to walk the plank.

Former Sen. Robert C. Hendrickson, New Jersey Republican newly nominated by President Eisenhower to be ambassador to New Zealand, was chairman of the subcommittee. He did not run for reelection.

At the moment the subcommittee has no chairman. Members are frankly upset because two of Beaser's and Clendenen's articles have already been published in the Saturday Evening Post.

Beaser said in an interview he and Clendenen had Hendrickson's permission to enter into a commitment to write the articles, a series of five.

"That is not true," said Hendrickson, reached by telephone at his home in New Jersey.

"Despite all my warnings and advice," he said, "these two fellows insisted on going ahead." He said that at one point he was "firmly resolved to chop their heads off" but finally decided to take "the calculated risk" of keeping them on rather than bringing in new aides at a late stage in the subcommittee's work.

Speaker of the House W. Wade Van Valkenburg (R-Kalamazoo) said Williams' highway program "apparently is being offered very largely to save face, without too many details about how the bonds will be paid for. I would say it is extremely doubtful that the House will pass his highway program."

The Senate majority leader, Sen. Creighton R. Coleman (R-Battle Creek), said Williams' program of "paving now and paying after I leave" is "political chicanery."

Sen. Carlton H. Morris (R-Kalamazoo) said: "Instead of a message we got a kind of a note. His demands appear to be excessive and he fails to tell us how much taxes we must raise to pay for them. He seems to have changed his slogan from 'build Michigan' to 'mortgage Michigan.'"

Democrats hailed the message, however.

The Democratic floor leader in the House, Rep. Ed Carey of Detroit, said, "I think he's got the proper approach. I think there would be plenty of resentment at any increase in the gas tax. The Legislature should cooperate with the inevitable."

Governor Criticized For Fancy Program With No Revenues

LANSING (AP) — Republican legislative leaders today criticized Gov. Williams for, as they said, proposing expensive programs but ignoring the taxes which must follow.

Top men in the House and Senate said Williams' message to the Legislature Thursday was unsound because he promised better highways and other advances without additional taxes to pay for them.

Williams had contended that a 500 million dollar highway construction bond issue could be paid off without raising the gasoline tax.

Both chambers were in recess until Monday.

Speaker of the House Wade Van Valkenburg (R-Kalamazoo) said Williams' highway program "apparently is being offered very largely to save face, without too many details about how the bonds will be paid for. I would say it is extremely doubtful that the House will pass his highway program."

The Senate majority leader, Sen. Creighton R. Coleman (R-Battle Creek), said Williams' program of "paving now and paying after I leave" is "political chicanery."

Sen. Carlton H. Morris (R-Kalamazoo) said: "Instead of a message we got a kind of a note. His demands appear to be excessive and he fails to tell us how much taxes we must raise to pay for them. He seems to have changed his slogan from 'build Michigan' to 'mortgage Michigan.'"

Democrats hailed the message, however.

The Democratic floor leader in the House, Rep. Ed Carey of Detroit, said, "I think he's got the proper approach. I think there would be plenty of resentment at any increase in the gas tax. The Legislature should cooperate with the inevitable."

Muskegon airport officials and adding funds for Pontiac, Iron Mountain, Benton Harbor-St. Joseph and Escanaba.

Ford charged Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams with "playing politics" with the allotments. He suggested the money was parcelled out to the smaller communities to pay off commitments Williams made in the 1954 political campaign.

Hoffman defended Maitland's plan to spend $50,000 at Benton Harbor-St. Joseph, Knox and Bennett spoke in favor of Maitland's proposal to give Escanaba and Iron Mountain, in their districts, $30,000 apiece.

Reps. Meader (R-Mich) and Hayworth (D-Mich) came out in favor of letting the original CAA allotments stand. Under those figures Willow Run, in Meader's district, would receive $100,000 or $20,000 more than proposed by Maitland. Lansing would get $100,000 as compared to $66,000.

In recommending the cuts, Michigan Aeronautics director Lester J. Maitland suggested increasing the more than enough to pay for this program.

Repeal Gas Tax
Bailey, instead, called for repeal of the 2-cent-a-gallon federal gasoline tax. He suggested "that source of revenue be left entirely to the states."

He asked that the federal government set up a national turnpike authority and provide $1,416,000,000 a year for highway work from excise taxes on autos, trucks, oils, tires and parts.

Under Bailey's program, the entire 40,000-mile interstate network would be made up of toll roads financed by joint funds from state and federal turnpike authorities. In sparsely populated areas the federal government would pay the entire construction cost.

A toll fee of 1 to 1½ cents a mile would be charged to automobiles and 2 to 4 cents a mile to trucks. Proceeds would be used for maintenance and the retirement of bonds issued by the states to finance their part of the system.

No Ham For Yegg
BALTIMORE (AP) — Some yegg swiped two "hams" from Ben Arkesman's store here Thursday after smashing a window. But he'd better not try to cook up a dish of ham and eggs. The hams were dummies, filled with sawdust.

Blizzards Cause Chaos In Britain
LONDON (AP) — Melting snow and slush following in the wake of blinding blizzards brought travel chaos to Britain today.

Drifts up to 12 feet deep blocked major roads in the Midlands and around London. Rapidly melting snow flooded towns and villages in the Tamar Valley between Devon and Cornwall.

Express trains ran up to four hours late even though special "ghost trains" plowed through the night to keep snow off the lines.

Fifty passengers spent their second night marooned in the station of Georgemas, in the desolate Scottish Highlands.

The automobile association reported nearly every main road in the north and east of Scotland was blocked by drifts.

No major casualties were reported so far in the blizzard.

Brennan Gives Up Judgeship Fight; Will Take Pension

DETROIT (AP) — Vincent M. Brennan has surrendered in his battle to retain his Wayne County Circuit Court judgeship.

Theodore R. Bohn of Detroit, named by Gov. Williams to succeed Brennan, was ready to be sworn in today as the newest of the court's 18 judges.

Brennan, 64-year-old veteran of 31 years on the bench, gave up late Thursday after the State Supreme Court ruled against him. He said he would make no further appeal and planned to go into law practice with an attorney son.

Brennan will receive $6,348 annually in pension. His salary as a judge was $24,500.

The State Supreme Court ruled that Brennan could not be given a review of the Judicial Retirement Board's refusal to let him withdraw his retirement application.

Brennan filed the application last September following criticism of his drinking escapades.

Ironwood MSC Student Found Dead In Swamp
ANN ARBOR (AP) — "Nothing but suicide" was indicated, police said today, in the death of a Michigan State College student found dead in a Washtenaw County swamp Thursday night.

The youth, Loren King, 22, of Ironwood, reportedly had been discouraged with his studies.

Lt. Melvin Fuller, of the Washtenaw County sheriff's staff, said "there is nothing to indicate anything but suicide."

Edwin C. Ganzhorn, Washtenaw County coroner, said King died either of carbon monoxide poisoning or drowning. He said results of an autopsy were "conclusive."

Vital organs were sent to the state police laboratory at East Lansing for further examination.

King's body was found Thursday in two feet of water in a swamp off Grass Road, about five miles northwest of nearby Saline.

King, an Air Force veteran discharged last November, had enrolled at MSC only last week as a freshman in the engineering school.

A brother, John Gordon King, also a student at Michigan State, said Loren appeared discouraged about his school work after attending classes for only two days.

John King reported his brother missing when Loren failed to keep a dinner date last Monday.

Loren's car was found near the swamp Wednesday. Sheriff's deputies returned to the scene Thursday for further investigation and found the body.

King was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Loy H. King of Ironwood.

Limit On Liquor Samples Sought
LANSING (AP) — Legislation was introduced in the Senate Thursday to stop widespread distribution of free liquor samples.

A bill filed by Sens. Robert E. Faulkner (R-Coloma) and John Minnema (R-Traverse City) would forbid any manufacturer, warehouseman or wholesaler of liquor to give away more than 48 half-pints a month as samples.

Their action results from criticism voiced by former Auditor, Gen. John B. Martin whose audit of the State Liquor Control Commission bottles of liquor were given away by salesmen last year.

Sen. Don Vander Werp (R-Fremont) filed a bill to remove the veto (or picture), from the top of each party's column on the ballot. He would substitute merely the name of the party.

"Any one who can't read 'Democrat' or 'Republican' and has to be guided by a picture shouldn't be voting," Vander Werp said.

Rebel Attackers In Command Of West Point Man

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP) — With fighting in Costa Rica's four-day-old war at a virtual standstill, an inter-American investigating commission reported today that the planes which bombed and machine-gunned Costa Rican towns had come from "foreign soil."

The finding was announced as former Costa Rican President Teodoro Picado admitted in an interview in Managua, Nicaragua, that his 27-year-old son, Teodoro Jr., was commanding the rebel forces. The younger Picado is a graduate of West Point and is married to a Los Angeles woman.

Munitions From Outside
The commission also reported it had found serious indications that arms and munitions have been supplied from a foreign source to rebel elements in Costa Rican territory.

The commission did not identify the "foreign soil" or the "foreign source."

The five-nation investigating group forwarded its finding to Jose Mora of Uruguay, president of the Council of the Organization of American States. The council sent the commission to the scene to probe Costa Rican charges of aggression by neighboring Nicaragua in connection with the fighting.

Nicaraguan officials have denied Costa Rican accusations that the Managua government armed, trained and equipped the rebels. They say the fighting is internal revolution.

Invasion Stalled
The commission's findings will be used by the OAS Council as a guide in deciding whether action should be taken under the Rio de Janeiro Treaty. This pact provides for joint action by the American states if any of its fellows is invaded. But already the arrival of the OAS mission and the promise of observation flights by U.S. planes appeared to have had a calming effect on the fracas.

The Costa Rican general staff reported that a rebel force of 200 to 300 men apparently was stalled around La Cruz, in the northwest tip of the country just south of the Nicaraguan border. A spokesman said no contact had yet been made with this force, although government troops were developing a movement to defeat it.

The rest of the country was reported quiet with the government in control.

Toll Road Network Proposed Instead Of Federal Financing
WASHINGTON (AP) — A national toll highway network was proposed today as a substitute for a presidential commission's recommendation that the federal government build strategic roads.

H. E. Bailey, recently resigned as general manager of the Oklahoma Turnpike Authority, said the government financing plan would be used by "forces of reaction . . . to pass the buck to the federal government for responsibility for all classes of highways."

Delayed 15 Years
In an address prepared for a national road conference sponsored by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, he said that a 1939 report of the Bureau of Public Roads opposing toll financing had "delayed the development of a national trunk highway system for 15 years."

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, chairman of President Eisenhower's commission, told the conference at its opening session Thursday that "toll roads are here to stay" but that he didn't think very much of toll financing.

The Clay commission called for a total federal-state highway program of 101 billion dollars over the next 10 years. It suggested that the federal government pay 25 billions of the cost of a proposed 27-billion-dollar network of 40,000 miles of interstate highways through revenue bonds floated by a new highway corporation.

Clay said gasoline tax revenues over the next 30 years would be

Whittemore Man Lacks Backing In Fish Experiment

LANSING (AP) — Eddie Parker, manager of a private fish experiment station near Whittemore, may be forced to give up the work he has carried on for the past 17 years.

The Conservation Commission Thursday turned a deaf ear to Parker's pleas to continue his work, which he claims can make Michigan the "trout paradise of the country."

Parker asked the commission to give him $4,500 to continue until July his experiment in feeding fish heads and tails to rainbow trout.

Fish fed offal under his system, claims, grow as fast as two inches a month. Normal rate of growth for the species is about one inch.

Parker carries on his research in connection with a dam built by "More Trout Incorporated," a private sportsmen's group that fishes in the Aug. Cres river.

Parker, himself an ex-employee of the Conservation Department, said department employees stirred up local resentment against his project.

He said lack of funds would keep him from carrying on his work on a full-time basis.

Fred C. Westernman, chief of the department's fish division, said Parker's research needs more study before any large-scale artificial feeding project could be adopted.

Heavy Ice Stops Work On Mackinac Bridge For Rest Of Winter

MACKINAW CITY (AP) — Work stopped on the Mackinac bridge today as heavy ice froze in around the bridge foundations.

Engineers said construction will be halted until the ice breaks up. They said the ice, forming over the last two days, appeared to be settling in for the winter.

"Four of the six foundations we aimed to complete this winter are finished to elevations of 10 feet above the surface," said John Kinney, resident engineer for the project.

He said erection of the main towers can begin on June 1.

The Mackinac Bridge Authority said work is on schedule and the structure is expected to be completed by Nov. 1, 1957.

Chief UN Delegate Confident Reds Will Free 11 U.S. Airmen

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Chief U. S. delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., expressing a measure of optimism, went to Washington for high level talks today on the problem of releasing 11 American fliers imprisoned by Red China.

After receiving a full report from U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold on his mission to Peiping, Lodge said he was confident progress had been made and "that our fliers will be free."

Lodge said he would consult with Secretary of State Dulles on Hammarskjold's report as soon as possible.

"The situation is delicate and we must have both patience and determination," he said.

Hammarskjold returned here Thursday night from a globe-circling flight to Red China seeking the release of the American airmen and other U. N. personnel held there.

He indicated he considered his talks with Chou En-lai, Red China's Premier-foreign minister, constituted only the first stage of his efforts. The next move is up to the United States after it considers Hammarskjold's report.

Hammarskjold reviewed the Peiping talks in a private meeting with Lodge shortly after the secretary general landed at Idlewild Airport in a U. S. Army Super Constellation.

Hammarskjold also called a news conference for this morning at which he was expected to reveal at least part of what went on during his Peiping talks.

NO TERMS GIVEN
UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold said today that Red China's Chou En-lai raised a number of questions, including U. N. seat, during their Peiping talks—but that he definitely had laid down no conditions for release of the 11 American fliers held there.

The secretary general, in a news conference, declared he had achieved what he was "aiming at" during his visit to Peiping.

He described this as merely the first stage of his efforts.

The pilot, 1st Lt. Robert Bruckner, returned to the ship back toward Fairbanks and ordered the men out when over Ladd.

Jet Speed Flier Bails Out; Hunted In Mojave Desert

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Flares and planes equipped with spotlights aided a search on the vast Mojave Desert today for jet speed record holder James B. Verdin, who vanished after radioing he was bailing out at 30,000 feet.

The 36-year-old Douglas Aircraft Corp. test pilot, who set a world's three kilometer speed mark of 753.4 m.p.h. in 1953, did not say Thursday why he was jumping from the "mighty midjet," called the smallest atom bomber. His one-place A4D Skyhawk crashed on the desert near Victorville, 75 miles northeast of here.

"There has been some snow on the desert and temperatures dip to sub-freezing levels at night so we are concerned about Verdin's condition in the event he broke a leg and was unable to walk," a Douglas spokesman said.

The spokesman said Verdin is a nonsmoker and therefore may not have carried matches or a lighter with him on his daytime routine test trip.

An Air Force helicopter located the wreckage of the Skyhawk in a barren area 15 miles northwest of Victorville.

Teen-Agers Discuss Problems Of Safety

James Weber, Holy Name High School, and Beverlee Timler, Gladstone High School, were the two state delegates elected from more than 100 students of area high schools attending the second annual regional Teen Age Safety Conference yesterday at the Escanaba Senior High School. Alternates chosen for the state conference, which is to be held in February, were Mary Beth Cannon, Gladstone High School and Robert Hamilton, Rapid River High School.

Trotter Heads Polio Campaign

DON J. TROTTER

Don J. Trotter, Escanaba insurance man, has been appointed general chairman of the 1955 Polio Fund campaign in Delta County, it has been announced by the local chapter.

The campaign is now getting under way and will continue through Jan. 31. A goal of $15,000 has been fixed for the Delta County drive. Last year $9,500 was attained in the polio campaign in this county but the local chapter is running behind in payments for the care of the county's polio victims.

Trotter will mail letters this week to all residents, asking for contributions to the infantile paralysis fund. In addition, a series of other activities are being planned to raise money for the polio fund.

Chairman Trotter has announced the following campaign chairmen: Russell Lee, business and industry; Charles Boyle, public and parochial schools; Ray Rose, canister campaign; Hagle Quarstrom, county schools; Duncan Cameron, Daily Press carriers march; Joseph Heirman, township chairman; Dr. David Jandrow, Gladstone chairman; Kenton Olson, labor unions.

A Mothers March will also be held during the drive but arrangements for this event have not yet been completed.

Annual Parish Meeting At St. Stephen's Church

Members of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church held their annual parish meeting last evening, the session preceded by a buffet style dinner attended by many of the church families.

Reports were given by Ben Johns, treasurer, and E. L. Pohl, chairman of the Every Member canvass.

Mr. Johns reported that early this year St. Stephen's Church had received a bequest of almost $8,000 from the estate of the late C. Arthur Preston. This fund has been established at the St. Stephen's Memorial Fund. In memory of Mr. Preston the church office is being completely furnished and will be designated as the C. Arthur Preston Memorial Room.

Increase In Pledges

Mr. Pohl, in his report, noted a substantial increase in pledges for the coming year. He also announced that the parish had given double its quota for the Builders for Christ campaign.

Noteworthy among the reports of the Guilds of the church was the announcement that St. Mary's Guild will install a new aisle carpet about Feb. 1. New carpeting also will be provided for the Fellowship Room.

The parish elected as new vestrymen, Lawrence W. Jacobs, John Froberg, David Coon and Mrs. Fred R. Hoyle.

Gift To Rector

Dean Joseph S. Dickson, rector, in his report on his activities and the state of the parish, read the names of 14 parishioners who died during the year and prayers were said in their memory. Dean Dickson also reported that several new books have been added to the parish library and urged their use by members.

A special feature of the occasion was the presentation of a table model television set to the rector and his family, a gift of the parish. The presentation was made by Mel Trams.

City Planning Officers Named

Escanaba Planning Commission, meeting in annual meeting last night at City Hall, reelected Jesse Pomazal chairman for the ensuing year. Other officers also were reelected, and standing committees appointed by the chairman.

Eldridge Baker is vice chairman of the Commission and Austin Stegath is secretary.

At its business meeting the Commission reviewed preliminary plans for an assessor's plat dividing the city-owned lake shore area opposite the Athletic Field into residential lots. The City Council has approved sale of the lots. The plat was tabled for further consideration.

Entrance To City

Plans for development of a Ludington Park area where the Karas Memorial Bandshell will be built were reviewed by the Commission and approved. The plans, submitted by City Engineer Loren Jenkins, establish surface grade for a seating area and the location of the proposed shell and roadways.

The Commission discussed at considerable length the problem of improving the city's south entrance from M-35 at Sylvan Point. Improvement of that section of Lake Shore Drive would make the city's south gateway more attractive and would induce more visitors to follow the scenic route leading to Ludington Park and Ludington Street, it was agreed.

Committees for the year were named by Chairman Pomazal as follows:

Committees Named

Architectural—T. D. Vinette, Warren Morrison and Lawrence Fleming.

Capital Improvements—Austin Stegath, F. W. Schmitt, Fleming, Public Relations—Fleming, Pomazal and Joseph Ivens.

Recreation—Eldridge Baker, William E. Anderson and Schmitt. Industrial—Ivens, Vinette and Pomazal.

Subdivisions—Morrison, Stegath and Anderson.

Schools—Anderson, Ivens and Morrison.

Transportation—Schmitt, Stegath and Baker.

Zoning—Pomazal, Baker and Vinette.

Ohio Youth To Die In Electric Chair For Killing Girl, 17

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Eighteen-year-old Bernard Schreiber, found guilty of the rape-slaying of Mary Jolene Friess, 17, faces death in Ohio's electric chair.

A panel of three judges Wednesday found him guilty of first-degree murder in the woodland slaying near here last Aug. 12. The judges deliberated one hour and made no mercy recommendation.

The youth testified he raped the girl in a wood near her home after a 12-year-old boy companion had knocked her unconscious with a club. He said he stabbed her when she regained consciousness.

The 12-year-old boy denied accompanying Schreiber or striking the girl.

Mr. and Mrs. Kleimola — Residents of Ironwood Tell of Their True Experience With O-JIB-WA BITTERS

"Ten days was all that it took O-JIB-WA BITTERS to bring me the results that I sought for so long," says Mr. Walter Kleimola, R No. 2, Ironwood, Michigan.

"My wife is the one who first introduced me to O-JIB-WA BITTERS. She began taking it about a year and a half ago, because her arms were swollen and very painful. Her blood circulation was very poor and brown spots began to appear on her skin. She had tried many medicines, but, nothing helped very much until she used O-JIB-WA. The pains left and the spots went away, so she has been recommending it to others ever since. I read on the folder packed with the bottle, that it was good for stomach ailments, and as I have been suffering for a long time with my stomach, I decided to give it a trial. About all I had been able to eat was like baby food, and of course anything fried would about kill me. O-JIB-WA BITTERS helped me right away and in 10 days I wasn't bothered at all. Because of the excellent results we have both received from your medicine, we are glad to tell all who suffer about the merits of O-JIB-WA BITTERS."

Editorials—

Increase In Teacher Supply Is Necessary To Overcome Deficit

SCHOOL work quietly being done by 100 men and women at Michigan State College is a ray of hope to Michigan's harassed school administrators.

The 100, mostly men but including a number of housewives, previously had earned bachelor degrees but have returned to school to become teachers. They are enrolled in M. S. C.'s School of Education, taking work that will qualify them to teach in the state's elementary or secondary schools.

Although these 100 are a small number compared with the thousands who will be needed to fill teaching jobs in Michigan, an M. S. C. official says the trend of those returning for teacher training is growing.

The increased enrollment of students of this type is probably due to the general salary increases for teachers, granted within the past five years—plus a general tightening in other vocations.

College placement officials report that salaries of last year's graduates who entered the teaching profession averaged well above those in other lines of work.

In an effort to attract qualified persons into the teaching profession, a special program is available in the School of Education. Persons who hold bachelor degrees but are not certified as teachers can qualify in as little as two terms of work.

Studies show that for children already born we will need 57,000 teachers in Michigan three years from now. At present time there are 45,000.

Pointing out that 12,300 more teachers will be needed in the next three years, Dean C. E. Erickson has said that at the present rate of supply "the Michigan colleges can do no more than replace the teachers leaving the profession each year. The need for some immediate help from other sources is necessary."

He said there are two sources which may offer "quick help" in meeting the problem. One is to attract back into the profession certified teachers who are not now teaching. The other, for which the School of Education has established its special program, is to train as teachers those already trained in subject matter areas but who lack training in teaching methods.

Last year the College Placement Bureau reported about five job opening for each graduate who entered the teaching profession. Dean Erickson said the shortage is especially acute in the elementary schools but it is rapidly reaching into the high schools as well.

Words, Wit & Wisdom

By William Morris

Good news for the many readers who wrote in last fall to complain about the Weather Bureau's using girls' names to designate hurricanes. At long last the ineptness of these names has been acknowledged by the authorities and official word should come within the next few days about the new nomenclature to be followed.

Suggestions to date range from animal names—such as Anteater, Bear and Coyote to the names of outstanding villains of history—Attila, Bluebeard and Cain.

This department's perhaps too logical suggestion is that the Bureau simply return to the impersonal Voice Code terminology used with entire success by hundreds of thousands of airplane pilots and radio engineers for many years. Why not simply label these hurricanes Able, Baker, Charlie, Dog and so on? Perhaps that's too simple and unromantic for our metrical meteorologists used to hymning the praises of Carol, Edna, and Hazel!

FOOTNOTES ON A PHENOMENON. The power of words has seldom been better illustrated than by the extraordinary success of the word game Scrabble. From a sale of a modest few hundred sets a year, in 1952, this game has so caught the public fancy that 1954 saw sales totaling more than ten million dollars—and the host of imitative word games must have accounted for many millions more.

Now comes news that two of New York's fanciest specialty shops are offering deluxe leather-encased Scrabble sets at a modest $25 the set. And the real devotee can wear Scrabble brunch coats and negligees, don Scrabble jewelry and even— heaven help us—eat Scrabble candy.

Where this all will end, I shouldn't presume to guess. But it proves again that the fascination of solving a puzzle plus the attraction of adding words to one's vocabulary add up to a magical formula for capturing popular interest.

Try And Stop Me By BENNETT CERF

Houdini, the famous escape artist, made one of his rare miscalculations when he fought his way free of a supposedly fool-proof police straitjacket and heavy handcuffs from the top span of a big bridge in Scotland. The stunt was widely advertised, and a traffic-stopping throng was expected. Yet only a corporal's guard turned up.

"Don't they like me here in Scotland?" the disappointed Houdini asked a city official. "They're crazy about you," was the reassuring reply, "but mon, you performed on the wrong bridge. That's a toll bridge!"

The old Shakespearean actor cupped a hand over his ear, and apologized. "You'll have to speak a bit louder, my good man. I've become a wee bit deafened. All that applause, you know . . ."

A broker arrived at the Exchange one morning with a mourning band around his left leg. "Who died?" asked his partner. "Don't you see?" said the mourner. "It was my stepmother."

No Known Treatment For True Color Blindness

By EDWIN P. JORDAN M. D. — Written for NEA Service

Apparently many people are not aware that they are color blind until they are tested for it. This can be dangerous for anyone who drives a car—and for the rest of us—but today many states require this test before issuing an operator's license.

A typical example comes from E. C., who writes: "I recently had to take a physical examination for work and was told I am color blind. Please tell me what color blindness is and whether anything can be done about it."

IT IS REMARKABLE that ordinarily the human eye and brain possess the power to distinguish different colors. If this did not exist none of us could appreciate the enormous variety of color in nature, we should have few artists and those engaged in certain occupations would be severely handicapped.

Color sense is a quality of that portion of the eye known as the retina, which records impressions of light rays and transmits these impressions through the optic nerve to the brain. Some color rays are not consciously appreciated, and some people are more aware of differences in shades of color than others.

COLOR BLINDNESS is considered to be partial or total. There are three varieties of partial color blindness: in one there is a lack of ability to "see" red; this is known as red blindness; in another green is not distinguished, and in the third there is a deficiency in seeing yellow and blue, though red and green can be readily identified. The latter is rather rare.

The totally color blind are those who cannot tell any color from another but only variation in the brightness of the object. To such persons the world is all black, white and gray.

Color blindness is of extreme importance, particularly the red-green variety, in certain occupations such as those in railway, air or marine service, because the ability to discriminate between red and green signals is of vital significance. Keen ability to discriminate colors is also of importance to many workers in chemicals, lithographers, painters, and of course artists.

COLOR BLINDNESS is usually considered inborn. It is believed to be truly hereditary and transmitted through the mother to the male children. This is probably responsible for the fact that color blindness is ten times as common among the male population as among the female. One man in 25 is said to be affected to some degree by color blindness.

Can color blindness be treated? True color blindness cannot be overcome or improved by treatment or exercise, though during the last war some young men who had this difficulty made fewer color mistakes after a period of training. The most important feature about color blindness is that those who are afflicted should know it and govern their lives accordingly.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—The hullabaloo being raised in Congress about the handling of "security risks" boils down to a simple question. Is the safety of the United States government and of the American people of paramount importance or is it to be superseded by legalistic barriers now advocated to spare government employees the hazards of investigation? Is even dismissal by the government as a matter of precaution to be subjected to frustrating devices so that ferreting out of subversives is to be made more difficult?

Too many people think the matter of security is an academic question. Many of them, because they dislike Senator McCarthy, now are flippantly quipping that "McCarthyism is a wasm." But it is turning out to be a grim joke. For "McCarthyism"—which was a word first widely used in the columns of the "Daily Worker," the Communist organ—has apparently not yet sufficiently aroused the government to the necessity of taking better security measures.

Thus, in the last few days some tragic exposures have been made but nevertheless the Democratic party in Congress remains divided on how to meet the dangers of Communist infiltration. While one group of Democrats in Congress is asserting vigorously that they will not relax their interest in the subject of ridding the government of Communists, another group is about to launch an investigation to prove that the Eisenhower administration has been too drastic with its dismissals of employees.

KEATING'S STATEMENT

In the midst of it all, Representative Keating of New York, Republican, a member of the House judiciary committee, has issued the following statement:

"A man by the name of Joseph Petersen, a former code expert in the National Security Agency, has just been sentenced to seven years in prison for espionage. It now has been revealed that the way he was caught was by means of a routine check under the new security program instituted by President Eisenhower.

"Here was a very serious security risk who had been working for the government for years and who would still be on the payroll today, undetected and unapprehended, had this administration not acted promptly and vigorously."

The court proceedings in the Petersen case were mysteriously fragmentary. Again and again the court announced that certain testimony would be heard privately "in chambers." The documents that were presented in open court were few and, it is known, did not compare in their sensational nature with the many withheld from public record.

PETERSEN'S CONFESSION

Petersen made a confession which, in part, was placed in the court record. He said:

"I recall furnishing verbal information from this document to Giacomo Stuydt, whom I knew to be a Dutch national employed at the Dutch embassy at that time. This information was given to Stuydt at different times and at different places . . .

"I neglected to return this document to Arlington Hall (National Security Agency) because I was emotionally disturbed as I realized the gravity of my actions to my country in illegally furnishing information from a secret United States government document to an unauthorized foreign national."

What happened after the Dutch government got the data? Was it relayed by someone to Moscow?

Petersen carried away documents from 1948 to 1952, and some of them were of such a vital nature that U. S. District Judge Albert V. Bryan, in referring to them said: "Their disclosure could have, and may have for all the court knows, led to very, very serious consequences to the security of the United States."

THE PRESS CASE

Members of Congress, both Republicans and Democrats, are showing unhappiness over another episode—the belated Army report on the case of Major Peress, who, according to a comment in the Senate by Senator Daniel of Texas, was a member of the Communist party yet was given an "honorable discharge" after his papers for nearly two years before showed that he had refused to answer a question concerning his Communist connections. Yet Senator McCarthy was vilified and censure recommended by the Watkins committee because he denounced the general who helped to cover up the case.

Senator Francis Case of South Dakota, Republican, a member of that committee, now says it has been proven that the "Army had weighed the request of a Senate committee chairman against that of a suspected subversive and decided in favor of the latter."

The South Dakota senator, it will be recalled, told the Senate he changed his view when he discovered that the Army had discharged Major Peress after and not before Senator McCarthy's letter seeking a postponement of that step had been received by the Army.

On top of all this there's a "left wing" drive on to surround government employees with complex procedural devices which would supersede the rights of the American government to protect its own safety.

Staunch Anti-Russian Turkey Baffled By Soft Twist Of U.S.

By LEON DENNEN

ISTANBUL, Turkey—(NEA)—Peaceful "co-existence," Soviet-style, isn't even a word in the ordinary Turk's language.

And with reason: for the past 300 years the Turks have resisted, with courage and tenacity, the mounting tide of Muscovite imperialism—both Czarist and Communist. They still do.

Turkey knows the Russians as few NATO powers do and prefers to keep her powder dry—despite Moscow's honeyed words about "peaceful co-existence."

The man-in-the-street is thus baffled by the flood of propaganda in favor of "co-existence" now broadcast from the U. S. Baffled is perhaps a mild word; Turkey, America's staunchest friend in NATO, is completely confused by the sudden pro-"co-existence" twist in President Eisenhower's foreign policy.

Said a noted Turkish engineer who knows and respects the U. S.: "President Eisenhower is obviously out to gain friends and influence people. But will Washington's new soft policy change the mind of a single Red or influence even one French intellectual? Hardly."

However, the engineer added: "By confusing the Turks the U. S. is endangering the nation's will to resist Red aggression."

A Western diplomat, an unusually qualified observer, was equally emphatic in his remarks, if not quite so diplomatic.

He said: "The State Department obviously aims to appease the French. But Washington's new policy is playing havoc with the Turks. And yet one Turkey is worth two Frances with Premier Mendes-France thrown into the bargain."

As seen from the Middle East, especially in Turkey, the "new look" in U. S. foreign policy—which is likely to result in another sterile Big Four conference—will in the end benefit only the Russians.

Its effect on Turkey is particularly unfortunate because:

1. Turkey, a dictatorship only 10 years ago, is today by far the most stable democratic country in the Middle East—more stable than many European nations.

2. The man-in-the-street, peasants included, is remarkably well informed on the main points at issue in major internal and international problems.

3. The Turk's pro-U. S. orientation and ingrained distrust of Moscow make Turkey an invaluable source of strength in the Middle East as a deterrent to Red aggression.

Alone, Turkey—with her army of 370,000 tough and well-trained men—is no match for Russia. However, in association with other non-Communist nations she ranks high up in military potential—certainly higher than a number of other countries who receive larger benefits from the U. S. pork barrel.

These are elementary facts, but they are important to any understanding of Turkey.

From the U. S. point of view there is another fact equally significant: unlike France, Britain or even Italy or Germany, Turkey is the only genuinely pro-American country in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

An American does not have to be long in Turkey to realize that he is among true friends.

MASS TRIAL OF TURKISH REDS, some of whom are shown here after arrest in 1953, underlines Turkey's distrust of Moscow.

As one Turkish official put it: "We know a great deal more about the U. S. than you know about Turkey."

That's the truth. After years of corrupt Ottoman rule and Ataturk's dictatorship it took "Johnny Turk" a long time to discover the U. S. and American democracy. But once he discovered the great and mysterious land across the ocean his enthusiasm for

"Amerika" never waned.

To be sure, Turkey's democracy, after years of dictatorship is emerging but slowly. It still has many pitfalls to overcome. The country's economy, due to industrial overexpansion and poor U. S. advice, is not in the best shape.

Yet despite all the drawbacks, Turkey is a vital pilot project in America's way to win allies to resist Red aggression.

So They Say

Anything is possible in a lifetime in this age—including wiping out of the life of our country—General Benjamin Chidlaw, U. S. air defense chief.

They (scientists) have set a pattern and stride proper to giants and geniuses, but most frightening to ordinary mortals. They have left few obvious opportunities for easy attack and apparently cleared the fields of physics and chemistry, so little undiscovered remains.—AEC member Willard Libby, on why youths shy away from scientific careers.

I cannot help but believe that landlords who refuse to take children are social parasites and should be condemned as anti-social.—Rabbi Reuben Slonim of Toronto, Canada.

I'm burdened with sin, anyway. Being married, you can't do much.—Dr. Charles Laughhead, who predicted world's end, on why he wasn't worried about it.

I cannot be associated with such un-American methods.—Gen. James A. Van Fleet, on resigning from pro-McCarthy organization, "10 Million Americans for Justice."

We shall neither be intimidated nor lulled into a false sense of security. We shall patiently and steadily persist in measures of collective security.—Secretary of State Dulles.

You read about underworld characters in boxing, but it is the boxing commissions who license them. . . . If there are things wrong in boxing, it's partly the fault of the commissions.—Former Heavyweight Champ Joe Louis.

The hard truth is that America is coming to resemble Europe more and more. Everything is growing in that direction—increasing bureaucracy, mounting socialism and obligatory military service in time of peace.—French Author Raymond Cartier.

Once the terror of the atomic weapons has been banished . . . there will be such a liberation of thinking and such a liberation of human fears that everything will go ahead successfully.—West German Chancellor Adenauer.

I've still got a better football team than they (Cleveland Browns) have.—Detroit Lions Coach "Buddy" Parker after 56-10 title game defeat by Browns.

Taiwan (Formosa) is China's territory, and the Chinese people will never halt until Taiwan is liberated.—Red China's Premier Chou En-Lai.

The truth is so plain and simple that it seems as if governments must in time become aware of it: the Communist and non-Communist worlds can live together or die together.—Philosopher Bertrand Russell.

Edson In Washington

By PETER EDSON

(NEA Washington Correspondent)

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson got to poaching a little in each other's preserves just before the holidays. Secretary Wilson made a press conference statement which pretty well outlined the U. S. foreign policy situation concerning Russia. Secretary Dulles then told his press conference what the U. S. military strategy situation was concerning the use of atomic weapons.

Dulles told a story to explain that the reduction of U. S. armed forces did not mean that this country was cutting back on its defenses.

Just supposing, he said, that there was a country that had first invented gunpowder. If, after making this invention, this country should then start reducing the number of men it had armed with crossbows and arrows, it would not be a sign that the country was weaker.

NOBODY IS complaining openly, but most of the U. S. safety organizations which participated in the recent Safe Driving Day endorsed by President Eisenhower are irked by the way the plan was handled.

Last summer the President's Action Committee for Highway Safety decided the idea was a good promotion stunt. But the White House staff never came up with a firm commitment that the President would personally endorse the crusade. Several times the project was all set to go. Each time it was cancelled. As late as five weeks before it was actually held, the Safe Driving Day campaign was cancelled, then revived again.

The complaint now is that the five weeks following Ike's firm assurance that he would speak on its behalf were not enough time for the public relations people of the safety outfits to give it adequate preparation and promotion. As a result, the critics believe, it wasn't very effective.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT has come up with a $64-billion-dollar word, which is the size of this year's budget. The word is asymptotically. It was used by a Treasury tax expert to explain that the full effect of cutting the corporation income tax rate from 52 per cent to 47 per cent would not be felt in the years immediately after passage of the cut, but would approach that point gradually.

The first year after the cut, the government might lose $1.2 billion of revenue. The next year it might lose $1.5 billion, $1.8 billion the year after that and maybe $2 billion in the fourth year. The full effect of the cut, over $2.2 billion, might not be felt for a long time.

The one word, asymptote, explains all that's in the foregoing paragraph. It's a perfectly good mathematical expression for a curve that approaches, but never quite meets, a straight line. The derivation is Greek, meaning "not falling together."

THE RUSSIAN embassy in Washington has apparently been making a play for Russian-born people now in America, trying to persuade them to go back to their native country. Recently they invited one prominent Washingtonian of Russian birth to come to one of their parties. Just for a look at the inside of the place and for a taste of vodka and caviar he went, taking along his American wife, a Southern belle.

They were both given rather frigid treatment by one of the Russian hosts when the ex-Russian made clear that he had come to America at an early age and had no desire to leave.

The Red official then launched into a long-winded and stuffy lecture about the beauties and wonders of the Soviet Union. He particularly stressed the attractions of that section of Russia known as Georgia, where he had been brought up. Finally, turning to the American wife, he inquired sarcastically, "Now, Madam, I suppose you would still rather live here than in Russia?"

"Ah really must say Ah would," she drawled. "But Ah'm suah you'll understand, foh Ah'm from Georgia, too."

DEFENSE SECRETARY Charles E. Wilson has a lot of fun exchanging quips with news photographers. He gets a kick out of seeing them poised for a picture, waiting minutes for a gesture that will show some action. He watches them out of the corner of his eye and when he thinks they've relaxed, he makes a quick motion with his hand, hoping they'll miss it.

When he played this game with the cameramen at a recent press conference, he lost. All the cameras clicked and the flash lamps lit up instantaneously and simultaneously.

"Look!" said Mr. Wilson as the photographers grinned. "Will you tell me why I am so much more attractive when I'm scratching my head than when I'm just sitting here quietly?"

NEW YORK—(NEA) — The long-torso look, developed in Paris, interpreted by American designers and apparent in resort collections, is present in junior cottons, too.

This lean silhouette with raised bustline, slim midriff and lower hipline is handled in several ways for the junior figure. Usually, it's coupled with a wide, spreading skirt and thus is kept young-looking.

Even though the necklines frequently rise high in the front, they go low in the back. The deep V is used most often but the U cut is evident, too. There are narrow shoulder straps set on square-cut necklines and lots of neat, flat, standaway collars.

Princess lines and empire seaming are particularly good in junior fashions. But the long-torso theme is developed in other ways. Hip banding, gathered fullness and flounces set low are all ways of achieving the elongated line. Pleated skirts, notably permanently-pleated cottons, fan out from oling, molded tops.

Cotton prints are gay and amusing. Take their cue from marine life, sea shells, commuter's trains, newspaper print. Colors shimmer, newspaper print. Colors shimmer, palling from the very bright to the delicate Victorians shades, including a whole range of mauve and lilac.

Carol Boomer, Philip Richel In Church Rites

In a double ring candlelight service Saturday, Jan. 8 at 7 p. m. at Salem Evangelical Lutheran Church in Escanaba, Miss Carol Rosemary Boomer became the bride of Philip Joseph Richel Jr. The service was solemnized by the Rev. William Lutz.

The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Helen Boomer, 207 N. 15th St., Escanaba. Mr. and Mrs. Philip Richel Sr., 574 N. 11th St., Gladstone, are the bridegroom's parents.

The bride's gown of lace over slipper satin was designed with a scalloped neckline, long lace sleeves buttoning to a point at the wrists, small buttons down the back of the bodice and a floor length tiered skirt of lace over net and satin. The lace in the skirt was scalloped to match the neckline. Her veil, waist length, of net bordered with scalloped lace, was gathered to a tiara of white flowers. Her white Bible, gift of the bridegroom, was inscribed in gold with the names of the bridal couple and date of the wedding. A white orchid adorned the cover.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Frank Rudiger.

Attendant in Aqua

Mrs. Paul Drefts, matron of honor, wore a strapless floor length gown of aqua net over taffeta with a bolero jacket. Her colonial bouquet was white carnations, centered with pink roses.

Mrs. Boomer was attired in a two-piece street length dress of light green iridescent taffeta for her daughter's wedding. The dolman-sleeved jacket was trimmed with scatterings of pearls and rhinestones. Mrs. Richel wore a street length dress of deep red crepe. The mother's corsages were white carnations.

Mrs. Henry Ottensman, organist, played the traditional bridal music and the accompaniment for Miss Betty Leisinger, soloist, who sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "O Perfect Love."

Two large candelabra and evergreen trees formed the setting for the service and poinsettia plants, pine boughs accented with red ruscus and white tapers formed the altar decorations. The pews were marked with white satin bows.

Reception at Sherman

The reception for 129 guests was held at the Sherman Hotel from 8 to 10, with decorations in a color theme of white, aqua and pink, in charge of Mrs. Ivan Kobasic and Mrs. Elmer Bonifas. The serving table was covered with a white cloth and aqua drape gathered with white pom-poms. Pink and white mums, flanked by white tapers, formed the centerpiece. The all white tiered wedding cake with a top ornament of birds and cherubs, was on a smaller table with similar decor.

The gift table was covered with a silver cloth and bud vases with single pink mums centered the individual tables.

Assisting were Miss Arlene Koehler, who poured, Miss Grace Oliver, who was in charge of the punch bowl, and Mrs. Clifford Sahn, who served the wedding cake.

The newlyweds went directly to Marquette where the bridegroom is attending Northern Michigan College of Education. The bride's going-away ensemble was black and white and her corsage was white carnations.

Wedding Guests

The bride, who was employed by the Escanaba and Lake Superior Railroad Company is a graduate of Escanaba Senior High School and Cloverland Commercial College. Her husband, a graduate of Gladstone High School, attended the University of Minnesota before enrolling at Northern.

Wedding guests included Mrs. A. M. Boomer, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Depuydt, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Prim and Mrs. William Lole, Danforth. # Lamprey Control Devices Set For 13 New Streams

The U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service plans to have 13 additional sea lamprey traps installed along streams emptying into Lakes Michigan and Superior by the time the lamprey spawning run gets underway next spring. Eleven of the traps are scheduled to be put in operation along the west shore of Lake Michigan. Three of these will be located in Delta and Menominee Counties—near the mouths of the Ford, Bark and Cedar Rivers. The other eight will be located in Wisconsin, as far south as Cleveland, which is a short distance north of Sheboygan.

ed to be put in operation along the west shore of Lake Michigan. Three of these will be located in Delta and Menominee Counties—near the mouths of the Ford, Bark and Cedar Rivers. The other eight will be located in Wisconsin, as far south as Cleveland, which is a short distance north of Sheboygan.

Quick Shots

Luce County will receive $28,800 in the next few weeks, the highest of any of the 72 Michigan counties scheduled to receive tax payments soon on state-owned lands.

Earl H. Clark, Houghton Rod and Gun Club official, credits the Conservation Department's gun safety training program and other safety education efforts with producing an impressive Copper Country record during the past deer season when not a single accident occurred in Houghton, Ontonagon, Baraga or Keweenaw Counties. Paul Challancin, Marquette, regional education supervisor for the Conservation Department, and Roger Norden, Marquette, education consultant for the department, staged a series of skits on gun safety in communities in the Copper Country and elsewhere in the Upper Peninsula prior to the deer season.

The Lake Linden-Hubbell Sportsmen's Association recently adopted the following objectives for 1955: Fish plantings in local waters, demand for stiffer penalties for game and fish law violators and a study aimed at providing a navigable channel out of the bottleneck now existing in Torch Lake.

Stand Against Bounties Told By Missouri

To the query, "Why doesn't the commission put a bounty on coyotes and foxes?", the Missouri Conservation Commission gave the following answer in the Missouri Conservationist:

"There are several reasons: One of the most important is that we have something better to offer — our extension predator control program. Through this program we offer training in the most effective ways of trapping the animal that is actually causing the damage. The program has been operating since 1945. During this nine-year period, farmers trained by the extension trappers have reduced their losses to predators by about 80 per cent through their own effort. They have been well satisfied with the results they have obtained."

'Only Effective Way'
"Farmers who are losing livestock or poultry to predators usually notify their county agricultural agent who then arranges for a predator control demonstration in the neighborhood where damage is occurring. If coyotes or foxes are damaging your property, we'll be glad to provide the services of one of our extension trappers to help you."

"Trapping to catch the individual animal that's causing damage is the only effective way to stop predator losses. A bounty encourages indiscriminate trapping, which may take a lot of predators but miss the killer that's really causing the trouble. Bounties are expensive, they often encourage fraud and they are not usually very effective in reducing damage."

Readers Corner

Winged Stranger

Dear Editor:
I was much pleased to read on your Dec. 29 outdoor page of the appearance of the western magpie in the Upper Peninsula. Your article confirmed the fact that the strange bird I saw in November actually was a magpie and not the product of "deer-hunter's hallucination."

While deer hunting in the Floodwood area near the Marquette-Dickinson county line I observed this bird in the act of capturing a field mouse. It flew into a pincherry tree and firmly wedged the mouse in a crotch of a branch. With its beak, the bird proceeded to skin the rodent, expertly grasping a piece of hide and rearing back to peel it off. After eating what it wanted, the magpie flew off with a strong, steady wing beat, leaving the skin and part of the carcass hanging from the tree. I was very much impressed by the appearance of this stranger. The immaculate white and jet black of its plumage contrasted very strongly and made the bird stand out prominently against the brown background of the bare woods and ground.

Sincerely yours,
Bill Nault

Study Of Sharptail In U. P. Contains Urgent Warning

"The sharp-tailed grouse population is steadily declining in the Upper Peninsula, and only by a concerted effort on the part of the public agencies responsible, brought about by public demand, can this species be maintained as a game bird."

That urgent warning is sounded in an excellent thesis prepared by Tony J. Peterle in partial fulfillment of requirements for his Ph. D. degree from the University of Michigan. The thesis is result of field study by Peterle from July, 1951 to July, 1954 at the Cusino Wildlife Experiment Station in Alger County. Peterle is now a Fulbright scholar in Scotland, where he is studying grouse management techniques.

Land Use Practices

"The future of the sharp-tailed grouse in the Upper Peninsula is dependent on the land use practices designed and applied to the publicly owned plains areas of low soil fertility," Peterle writes in his conclusion. "The forest economy of the area demands that all public land suitable to the growth of commercial wood products be maintained in their present state of production, or that there be an increase in the total land area devoted to the growth of forest products. The remaining openings, now remaining, make up less than one per cent of the total land area. Unless these areas can be withheld from planting and are maintained as wild land openings through the use of management techniques, the sharp-tail will continue to decline in numbers."

Peterle's study covered all phases of sharp-tail behavior, but was designed primarily to emphasize the relationship of this wonderful game bird to its habitat and thus provide additional information to contribute to a sound management policy.

History Of Bird In U.P.

The first definite record of the bird in Michigan was on Aug. 29, 1904 when Dr. Alexander Ruthven, later president of the University of Michigan, reported observing the species near Siskowit Bay on Isle Royale. However, the sharp-tail was listed as an Upper Peninsula visitor as early as 1877. In 1904, seventy-two sharp-tails were released on Grand Island in Munising Bay on an experimental basis. The first record of the species being taken while hunting in the Upper Peninsula was a bird shot by D. L. Robinson 12 miles east of L'Anse in 1924.

The sharp-tail began moving into this region from the west after forest fires had opened clearings. His gradual eastward movement was abetted by artificial introductions, first in the Upper Peninsula and later (beginning in 1937-38) in the Lower Peninsula. The bird took a firm hold in his new homeland, but has gradually been crowded out as more and more areas have grown over and fewer and fewer openings have been created, thanks largely to the development of a highly efficient forest fire fighting force.

What will be the sharp-tail's future, as Peterle points out, up to the public and the land owners. The key lies in land use practices, with habitat maintenance and improvement an essential factor for continued sharp-tail survival.

38 Proposals Supported By Commission

Liberalization of fishing regulations on warm water species and tightening of regulations on trout are among the law changes being asked by the Conservation Commission during the current session of the Legislature, which got underway this week.

Other major changes asked by the commission in its 38-point legislative program include (1) continued discretionary power over the deer herd in the Lower Peninsula (2) abolition of the fox bounty (3) a $2 annual car windshield sticker for state parks patrons to raise additional funds for administration and improvement of the state park program (4) required general fishing licenses for Great Lakes sports anglers.

Reduced Trout Limit

If approved, the commission recommendations regarding warm water fishes would result in removal of the limit of 15 bluegills in the aggregate creel limit of bluegills and other panfish. The recommendations also call for removing the size limit on white bass and increasing the creel limit on this species from 10 to 25 when taken from the Great Lakes and connecting waters.

But the commission favors further restrictions upon trout anglers. For one thing, the commission wants the daily creel limit on brooks, browns and rainbows cut again — this time from 10 to eight. And the commission also would reduce the length of the general trout fishing season by about two weeks. The recommendation is for the season, to open on the second Saturday in May (instead of the last Saturday in April as is now the case) and close on Labor Day (instead of on the second Sunday in April, as at present.)

'Hottest' Recommendation

Probably the "hottest" recommendation will prove to be the one concerning discretionary power. Three years ago the Legislature granted the commission discretionary power. That grant expired at the end of the last deer season. Hunters in both the Lower and Upper Peninsula have split decisively into two factions over the question of whether the discretionary power should be extended.

Other important commission recommendations would:

1. Make it a violation for any person to molest anyone occupying, in good faith, a duck blind anchored to bottom lands of the Great Lakes.
2. Permit non-residents to hunt raccoons in Michigan.
3. Authorize a number of areas of state land for experimental management of certain game species without the restrictions of regular seasons and bag limits.
4. Remove the closed season on chubs.
5. Amend parts of the legal code to make effective in the Upper Peninsula the law which prohibits possession of firearms in a car from sunset to sunrise during the closed season on small game.
6. Reconcile commercial and sport fishing seasons on lake trout in Lake Superior.
7. Require any bow or firearm, being transported in a car at night during closed season to be enclosed and securely fastened in a case or carried in the trunk of such vehicle.
8. Prohibit the sale of sea lampreys or their use as bait to curb possible introduction of this species in inland waters.

Rare Opportunity

INCREASINGLY more persons in the conservation field are coming to the conclusion that the best hope for effective conservation practices in the future lies with our youth. These conservation authorities—as well as many sportsmen who believe in the same principles—point out that the youth of today are the conservationists and sportsmen of tomorrow. They emphasize instilling in our youth an awareness of the importance of conservation is the best insurance toward positive conservation measures in the future. Obviously, the best place for youth to learn the significance of conservation is in our schools and colleges. Both the Michigan United Conservation Clubs and the Northern Michigan Sportsmen's Association are aware of this situation and have taken steps to promote more effective conservation programs in our schools. Two years ago the latter group instituted an annual award to be presented to the Upper Peninsula school judged to have conducted the most outstanding conservation program during the preceding year. Now organized sportsmen in the Upper Peninsula are confronted with another opportunity to help guarantee further improvements in this region's conservation education program. This opportunity comes in the form of a proposal to have sportsmen's clubs in the Upper Peninsula finance a part of the cost of sending teachers to the Munuscong Conservation Laboratory operated each summer in Chippewa County to give Northern Peninsula teachers and school administrators field training and experience in conservation education. THE Munuscong Laboratory is operated by the Northern Michigan College of Education under the direction of George S. Butler, professor of conservation at NMCE. Its operations have been hampered, however, by the fact that many educators have been unable to take advantage of the program offered there because of financial obstacles. It has been suggested that Upper Peninsula sportsmen's clubs establish a program of scholarships to pay a portion of the costs met by teachers attending the laboratory. Any club which invested in such a program would be assured of having made a lasting and substantial contribution to conservation. Any club participating in the program could be confident that it was helping to bring a better understanding of conservation to the youth of the Upper Peninsula. Here, then, is a rare opportunity for organized sportsmen above the Straits to share in a perpetual program for the betterment of the entire Northern Peninsula.

IT'S OUR VIEW

For one thing, the commission wants the daily creel limit on brooks, browns and rainbows cut again — this time from 10 to eight. And the commission also would reduce the length of the general trout fishing season by about two weeks. The recommendation is for the season, to open on the second Saturday in May (instead of the last Saturday in April as is now the case) and close on Labor Day (instead of on the second Sunday in April, as at present.)

Stupid, Lazy Porcupine Has Easy Time Of It In Michigan

The porcupine was completely ignored when nature passed out the sense of alertness which every other creature in Michigan woods and fields, bird or animal, must have in greater or less degree to survive as a species. He just didn't need it.

Mister Stupid has not a care in the world, and especially in Michigan where the one predator who could "handle" a porcupine no longer exists. That fellow was the fisher, giant member of the weasel family, who, where he still survives in the "wilderness" big timber, reaches under the porcupine and flips him over on his back, leaving the unprotected underside open to attack. In this state, no other predator big enough to be interested in a dinner of porcupine, has learned the trick — at least consistently.

Bane Of Foresters
Wolves, coyotes, dogs, bobcats, hawks, eagles and even bears tackle the porcupine — and wish they hadn't.

Here and there the "porky" may have a friend, but even his friends will find it hard to single out any good that a porcupine does. On the contrary, he is the bane of foresters — a wreck of trees via the bark-girdling process. Benefited From Tradition
Without doubt, the porcupine has greatly benefited over the years through the tradition that he should be spared because "he is the only animal, the unarmed man, lost in the woods, can take for food."

There was more merit in that argument back in the days when pioneers or timber workers did find themselves lost, or far from the camp ladder. Today it's much easier to carry a couple of candy bars, or make an emergency snare with a shoelace on a rabbit runway.

CHIEF WHALING PORT

Sandefjord, Norway, is the world's chief whaling port. Whale-oil plants rim its harbor. Whaleship skippers cruise for months in Antarctic waters to catch the world's largest mammal. Some round trips cover 25,000 miles. A native of the city designed the first floating whale factory. Now these strange craft range to 25,000 tons.

Big weakness of the porcupine is his craving for salt. That mainly, is what attracts him to camps. He'll gnaw and chew car tires, doorsills, shoes, boots or anything else that might have even the slightest trace of a salty taste.

Few men will bother with preparing a porcupine for the table, but the meat is edible and it is good, especially from a young animal.

NO WORRIES—Problems are few in this state for the lumbering porcupine.

Wooden Pilot Fish Used To Lure Big Ones To Ice Spearing Sites

BY TED BENTZ

With ice spear in hand, Al stood over the hole on Munising bay ice and waited. Hour after hour passed, and nothing showed. He became impatient, and eventually he lay down his seven-prong ice spear and walked over to George's shanty and knocked on the door. "Come in," said George. "Catching anything?"

Al shook his head. "Not a thing. That's why I came over. How you doing?"

Explains 'Secret'
"Well, there they lay, Al: two lake trout. One weighs about 25 pounds. The other will go eight pounds anyway."

Al's eyes widened. "Nice catch, George. What's the secret?"

"No secret, Al. Here's how I do it." And George proceeded to demonstrate.

Presently Al asked: "What's that swimming around just below the ice. You have a line tied to it?"

Weighted Piece Of Cedar
"That's my pilot fish, nothing more than a six-inch piece of cedar, weighted inside with lead. The fins are made of tin. By moving it around in a circle just under the water, you attract the fish so you can spear them."

"Well, well," said Al, grinning. "No wonder I haven't seen any fish pass my hole."

"You mean to tell me you've been trying to spear without a pilot fish? You simply have to have a pilot fish for spear fishing. Otherwise, you might wait a week for a fish to even come near your hole."

Technique Explained
All shook his head from side to side. "I didn't know that! This is the first time I've ever used a spear to take fish of any kind."

said, "way you do it is to tie a pilot fish to a line and circle the pilot fish just under the water."

Body is painted white or silver, while eyes are painted either red or black. Tin fins, tin tail and lead may be cemented in place with glue. Mouth may be painted on with black enamel. (Sketch by Ted Bentz.)

Annual Meeting Of Soil Conservation District Tuesday

Will Be Held At The Cornell Town Hall At 8

By J. L. HEIRMAN

The annual meeting of the Soil Conservation District will be held next Tuesday, January 18 at 8 p. m. in the Cornell Town Hall. All farmers, their wives and children are invited to come. A good program has been arranged. The feature of the evening will be an illustrated talk given by Norman Laakso who recently returned from Finland. Norman spent three months in Finland on farms and has an interesting story to tell.

The Board of Directors with Edwin Bergman as chairman have made other numbers available for this meeting. It should be an interesting program, won't you be there?

Dairy farmers have probably been reading about stillbirth and how it boosts beef cattle gains. That's right but do not use it on your dairy cattle unless you are getting them ready to sell as beef. If stillbirth is put in feed for dairy cows you may lower production and it may cause some breeding troubles. Feeding beef ani-

Sprinkler Not Crop Cure-All

EAST LANSING—A sprinkler irrigation system in Michigan is no cure-all for poor crops. That's the warning sounded by Michigan State farm crops specialists and engineers. Farmers who are thinking about installing a sprinkler system should take a good look at their other practices first, the specialists insist.

Agricultural Engineer Ernest H. Kidder admits that irrigation can bring about big increases in crop yields—if other conditions are right during the dry weather.

But, he points out, irrigation will do nothing to solve problems of erosion—it may actually increase the runoff. It may aggravate the condition of poorly drained soils, and irrigation may create a drainage problem on formerly well-drained soils—if the farmer applies too much water.

Irrigation alone, he adds, will do nothing to improve fertility of poor soil conditions.

Farm Cropsman Milo B. Tesar indicates this after citing nine years of Michigan experiments with irrigation of pastures:

A farmer in Michigan generally can expect only a small margin of profit with irrigation on pastures. If he uses other good practices, he can raise more forage usually. But the cost of labor and the irrigation system sometimes might pay for the additional forage.

Here is the advice of both specialists: If you're thinking about installing an irrigation system, better talk it over with your county agricultural agent or some other impartial adviser.

Talk On Finland Farming To Highlight Soil Meet

A talk on farm life in Finland will highlight the annual meeting of the Delta County Soil Conservation District to be held Tuesday, Jan. 18, 8 p. m. in the Cornell Hall. Norman Laakso, International Farm Youth Exchange Student, will speak and show slides of his experiences this past summer when he visited Finland. Other interesting items on the evening program will include an outstanding 4-H demonstration on soil conservation by Jean and Gerald Ford, daughter and son of Clayton Ford, Cornell, who is treasurer of the district. Miss DeLores Van Drese, Flat Rock, will add a musical touch to the program with a few of her favorite vocal selections.

A report on district activities during 1954 with colored slides of local soil conservation practices installed during the year will be given. An election of two directors to fill the expiring terms of Ted Sundin, Ensign, and Robert Watchorn, Fayette, will be the main part of the business meeting. Short reports of various district activities will be given by the directors.

A pot-luck lunch with coffee furnished will take place after the meeting. Those attending are asked to bring either sandwiches or cake. This meeting will be for the entire family and all are urged to attend to see how the Delta Soil Conservation District is being of service to the area.

Livestock feeders probably will use the entire 1954 corn crop production and will draw about 200 million bushels, out of surplus M.S.C. ag economists predict.

Advise Buying Fertilizer Now

If you have a reasonably dry place to store it, buy your fertilizer now.

That's what J. L. Heirman, county agricultural agent, suggests. You'll be happier with the product, too, the agent promises. The fertilizer will keep well and will be easier to spread in the spring. That's because it is cured well.

And buying fertilizer now, Heirman insists, means you will get the exact grade and amount you want—probably at a cheaper price. You might have to substitute if you wait until the spring rush.

Buying on the off-season helps the fertilizer industry, too, Heirman points out. It means more storage space and greater plant production.

No Farm Price Boom Expected

EAST LANSING—Agriculture is one of the industries that will continue to suffer an economic price squeeze in 1955. That is a nutshell analysis of the outlook for the coming year by Michigan State College farm economists.

In their annual outlook, the M. S. C. economists point out that farm income has been dropping since 1951. And they can offer no concrete promise that the situation will change in the coming year.

The surplus problem that has been plaguing farmers for the past years will continue. In spite of good demand, the average of farm prices in the United States will continue to decline, but at a "decreasing rate."

Putting the squeeze on the farmer from the other side will be the continued high farm costs. His purchasing power will be in the neighborhood of 85 per cent of parity—the lowest since 1940.

Farm economists expect net farm income in the U. S. to be down 5 to 10 per cent in 1955. But Michigan farmers have made most of the postwar adjustment and net income in 1955 will decline little, if any, from the 1954 level.

The M. S. C. economists believe that the downward trend will level in 1955 and the farm business will stabilize. There is little to indicate much improvement in price and incomes of farmers in the years immediately ahead, unless a major war occurs.

No Restrictions On Land Use For Growing Potatoes

Delta county farmers can use as much land as they wish in 1955 for growing vegetables and potatoes. County Agricultural Agent Heirman points out that the prospect for more flexible price supports in 1955 and widespread drought last year led to dropping the proposal of limiting acreage of vegetables and potatoes.

The regulations that required cross-compliance and total acreage allotments for basic crops were also relaxed at the same time. That means you will not need to comply with all allotments on your farm in order to get a loan on any one crop.

But if you expect to put a crop under a price support loan, you will need to stay within that crop's acreage allotment—if there is one for your farm.

And if you want government help in carrying out conservation measures, you will have to comply with all crop allotments, Heirman emphasizes.

Jets No Longer Need Runways

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Air Force doesn't need long runways any more to get its fighter jets into the air. It can launch them from a 38-foot platform mounted on a truck.

The Air Force announced that it had launched F84 Thunderjets from what it calls "zero length" launching platforms during tests at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif.

The tests, conducted by the Air Research and Development Command and Glenn L. Martin, used the same principle and equipment employed to launch the Martin Matador, a pilotless missile.

A "booster bottle" filled with propellant is attached to an F84 and the plane raised into launching position on the platform by mobile cranes.

The plane's turbojet engines are fired at full speed, then the propellant in the "booster bottle" goes into action, giving the plane a rocket kick that sends it off so swiftly it is airborne almost instantly.

Ann Arbor Fathers Fined As Children Break Curfew Law

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Three fathers—a minister, a toolmaker and a wallpaper cleaner—were convicted Tuesday of permitting their children under 16 to violate this city's 10 p.m. curfew.

Municipal Judge Francis L. O'Brien fined the Rev. William Landers, a Pentecostal minister, and Louis Karnes, the wallpaper cleaner, $50 each because he said he was convinced they had been "something less than forthright" in their testimony. Toolmaker Jesse R. Nodine, whom the judge fined $10, had been "frank and honest."

Nodine's 15-year-old daughter, 14-year-old son and 13-year-old nephew, with Landers' son and Karnes' son, both 15, were arrested last June. Police said they chased them up to 100 miles an hour in a stolen car.

THE NOTRUMP BIDDER

Theoretically, the player who opens the bidding with one, two or three notrump has made a limit bid, and he should take no further action unless he is forced to do so by partner's response. In practice, however, this very logical partnership understanding may be put to a severe strain, and there may be the strongest temptation to bid again "on one's own."

Here's a case in point:

Opinions Divided On 1956 Nominee

WASHINGTON (AP)—Several Republican senators said that they think President Eisenhower is reluctant to run for re-election but will be convinced he ought to before the 1956 GOP convention.

Sen. Monroney (D-Okla.) on the other hand, said he is betting Eisenhower will retire. Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) said in a separate interview it is "far too early to speculate."

Monroney, who said he had won five hats betting former President Truman would not run again in 1952, said:

"Mrs. Truman didn't want President Truman to run and he didn't. I don't think Mrs. Eisenhower wants President Eisenhower to run and I'm betting that he won't."

Sens. Carlson (R-Kan.) and Bender (R-Ohio), who call themselves staunch Eisenhower supporters, said they don't have any doubt the President will be the party's standardbearer in 1956.

Eisenhower told newsmen he hopes he never becomes sufficiently self-centered that he fails to respond to a call to duty. But he said the individual involved has to decide for himself just where his duty lies.

Bentley Offers Bill To Cut Excise Tax On Automobiles April 1

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Bentley (R-Mich.) has offered a bill to provide that present excise taxes on automobiles, trucks and automotive products be reduced as scheduled April 1.

His measure calls for a cut from 10 per cent to 7 per cent in the tax on autos and 8 per cent to 5 per cent in the taxes on trucks and automotive parts and accessories.

President Eisenhower has urged extension of the present rates on the ground the government cannot afford the loss in revenue.

Tabitha Society Is 50 Years Old

The Jubilee of the Tabitha Society of the First Lutheran Church was celebrated yesterday afternoon in the church parlors.

Organized first in 1896, the society was reorganized in 1905. Only two of the charter members, Mrs. Judith Bjorklund and Mrs. Selma Jacobson, both of Gladstone are still living and both were present for the 50th year celebration.

The program included a song, "It Is No Secret" by Mrs. John Strand, who was self accompanied. Selections by the Northlanders on accordion and lute, a history of the Tabitha Society prepared by A. Theodore Sohlberg and presented by Mrs. Walter Tang, reading of a poem composed by Lloyd Ketchum, short talks by the two surviving charter members and presentation of an attractively iced birthday cake to the charter members from Mrs. S. H. Tang and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Tang. The invocation and benediction were pronounced by Rev. Clifford Peterson.

The church parlors were packed to the doors for the occasion. Lunch was served with Mrs. Jacobson presiding as hostess.

The society history prepared by Mr. Sohlberg follows: "Now there was at Joppa a disciple named Tabitha which means Dorcas. She was full of good works and acts of charity." Acts 9:36

"That is about all we know about a woman named Tabitha who lived about 1900 years ago in a city by the Great Sea. We do not know if she was rich or poor; if she was a member of a great or important family in the city, or one of the common people; if she dressed in purple and fine linen or in peasant garb. Only the knowledge of her good works has survived through the centuries.

"On this occasion we observe the Fiftieth Anniversary of the founding of the Tabitha Society. The name that was selected for it makes known the purposes for which it was organized, and the program it has sought to follow throughout this half-century.

"These are the names of the Charter Members and Pioneers of the Society:

"Mrs. Casper Elquist, Mrs. Charles Elquist, Mrs. Emil Elquist, Mrs. Andrew Swenson, Mrs. Gust Nelson, Mrs. John Lindgren, Mrs. Martin Engstrom, Mrs. August Carlson, Mrs. John Ohman, Mrs. Claus Swenson, Mrs. Gust Hendrickson, Mrs. John F. Olson, Mrs. Carl Whitman, Mrs. Charles Brant, Mrs. Selma Jacobson and Mrs. Judith Bjorklund.

"These were the women who in the scanty beginnings assumed a measure of responsibility in connection with the work of the newly organized church. The Nineties were uneasy and difficult times. Gladstone was to all intents and purposes a "frontier town." The "Marthas" of those other days were "troubled with many things", with the bearing and rearing of children, and the heavy household tasks in a primitive community. But somehow they found time and energy to devote to this precious effort. And what they began has been carried on faithfully year after year by their successors.

"The records of the church will doubtless disclose that many thousands of dollars have been contributed to its treasury by this devoted group of women. But of greater significance, perhaps, are the contributions made by the Society in comforting the distressed and bringing help to the needy of the community. There is a Keeper

Maj. Stanley Now Home From Germany; Soon Will Command 127th Engineers

The U. S. Army in Europe is the best trained and the best equipped we have ever had, Maj. Frank A. Stanley, former Manistique resident, declared this week on returning here after three years duty in Western Germany.

Major Stanley, who was executive officer for the 7th engineer battalion, training in Europe, arrived here Tuesday night and Monday will leave for Fort Campbell, Ky. There he will be commanding officer of the 127th engineer battalion.

With him, to visit his father, Miles Stanley, in Thompson, and his sister, Mrs. William Arnold, here, are his wife, a former Gary, Ind., resident, and their three children, Frank 8, Michael, 7, and Miles, 5.

Rapid Recovery

The couple reports the American school in Germany is one of the finest. Schools for dependents of servicemen in Germany are operated by civilian professors from the United States and teachers are selected from application lists which contain 10 teachers for each one needed, they report. Thus the calibre of faculties is quite high, they note.

Both nursery schools, kindergartens, grade and high schools are maintained, and, in addition, there is an American university in Munich which attracts dependents from all parts of Europe, they state.

"Germany is rapidly recovering from the destruction of World War II, in every phase," Major Stanley said, observing that the recovery has been "remarkable." Streets have been cleared, he said, but some buildings have yet to be repaired. The Stanleys lived in a German neighborhood while overseas and report it is "no different."

Funeral Services For Mrs. Finn Are Scheduled Saturday

Friends may call at Messier-Broulliere Funeral home beginning at 7 p. m. today. The rosary will be recited at 8 tonight.

The Manistique woman leaves a brother, Emil Manger, in Miami, Fla., and two nieces, Mrs. Mae Gillouly, of Port Washington, Wis., and Sister Mary Theresa Ann, of Toronto, Ont., Can.

than living in any U. S. community, if one knows the language. Both understand and speak some German.

Start Using Tractors

American forces in Germany are rapidly relinquishing houses and soon will have returned all to German residents, Major Stanley said. He explained that until mid-1954 many American servicemen lived in houses requisitioned from German owners. However, construction of apartment houses by the United States for its personnel is relieving the housing problem, he stated.

Ample food supplies are now available for German residents, the Army officer said. He added that he saw no evidence of any shortages at present. Many German people, he said, appear to be rather wealthy, and Mercedes 390 autos, which cost about $8,000, are becoming numerous.

Tractors are beginning to be used on German farms, Maj. Stanley noted, but it is not uncommon to see German farmers using oxen, coupled sometimes with a cow or horse. German farms consist of much smaller plots of land than in the United States, he said.

"The Germans are the hardest working people I have ever seen, but they play hard too," Major Stanley pointed out. He added that they were thrifty, but at the same time like to entertain.

Respect Law Enforcement

Duty for American soldiers in Germany now is quite different than three years ago, when they were assigned to occupation work, the Army officer explained. Now, U. S. forces stand shoulder to shoulder with other NATO troops, to halt the spread of Communism. American soldiers, oriented before assigned to duty there, are schooled to teach democracy by example, he said.

German and military officials work cooperatively in law enforcement at present, but when the Germans receive their freedom, a different arrangement will probably be made, Maj. Stanley said. There is no capital punishment there, and in some instances the Germans feel American methods are harsh he stated. However they respect the work of the United States in its law enforcement program there, the officer said.

Maj. Stanley, who has been in the Army 14 years, was born and reared in Thompson. He is a graduate of Manistique High School, and received officers' training at Fort Belvoir, Va.

Prior to going to Germany, where he was stationed in Munich, he was operations officer for the 127th engineers—the same battalion he now will command.

Price Disparity For Farmers Will Continue In '55

COOKS — Continued disparity between prices paid and received by farmers was predicted for 1955 by Richard Hartwig, MSC agricultural economist for Upper Michigan, at a meeting in Cooks High School Wednesday night.

Hartwig, an extension specialist, noted that in the local area a policy of washing and waxing potatoes for marketing has increased cost to the consumer—and to the farmer, who usually invests about $2500 for a machine. Main is experiencing a similar situation in the potato market, he said.

Generally, increased processing is bringing about higher food costs, Hartwig noted.

During the session, attended by about 20 farmers, movies explaining social security for farmers and new income tax regulations were shown. Farmers were advised to be sure they receive a Social Security number, and advantages of the new compulsory coverage were outlined. Either one-half of the gross income or the net earnings may be used in computing the three per cent levy for Social Security, it was pointed out.

Income tax changes affecting farmers this year include a provision for writing off losses over a 7-year period, going back two years and ahead; and a choice of three methods in computing depreciation on new farm equipment.

Depreciation, Hartwig explained, can be computed by dividing the cost of the article by the number of years in its life, and deducting an equal amount each year; by computing the life of the equipment and doubling the amount when the percentage is applied to total cost; or by adding the sum of digits in the life of the article and applying a fraction based on the life of the article over the total of digits to the total cost.

The double declining balance and sum of digits methods, he noted, enable farmers to write off more depreciation in the early years after purchase of equipment.

With Ray Crandall

Cornelius Sochay of Nahma was on the beam the other night but his Northern Michigan College mates didn't give him much help and the Wildcats dropped a 103-93 verdict to St. Cloud of Minnesota.

Sochay, a forward, pumped in 11 field goals and 12 free throws for 34 points. Warren Wilson of Manistique also saw action in the game. The loss was Northern's second in four starts.

Ontonagon's defeat at the hands of Mass Tuesday night dropped the list of unbeaten quint in the Upper Peninsula to six. Ontonagon had won eight straight before the 89-62 setback at the hands of the potent little school which has now won eight in a row.

The Niagara Badgers of the Menominee Range Conference are finding things tougher than tough this season. Coach Jack Taylor's quint has dropped 12 straight games to date, the latest a 67-43 setback at the hands of the Kingsford Flivvers.

And in Iron Mountain Tuesday night, Mountaineer center Dick St. Arnaud set a new Iron Mountain High School gym record by scoring 37 points against Norway. Iron Mountain won the game, 82-67.

Coach C. V. (Red) Money of Northern Michigan College has come up with an idea for the Basketball Hall of Fame at Springfield, Mass., where the game originated. Says Red: There are 83 basketball-playing education institutions in the Upper Peninsula: 78 high schools, two junior colleges and three senior colleges. My idea is to make this one big Upper Peninsula project—the amount a school may give is not the important factor, rather that we all give. I have suggested that each institution collect ONE CENT from each fan at one of their home games. This should be done within the next three or four weeks. These individual collections would be mailed to the Hall of Fame with the names of the schools, and each school would get a certificate for framing. It would be a swell plug for the Upper Peninsula if we could make this a 100 per cent shindig.

Five Crusader Juniors To Start Against Gladstone

Five Holy Name juniors have received starting nods from Coach Tom St. Germain in a "revenge battle" against the Gladstone Braves here Saturday night at 8:15.

Listed for starting assignments are Gary Paler and Mike Venne at guards, John Berrigan at center, Arnold Henriksen and Joe Juetten at forwards.

The "revenge" angle comes as the result of an 83-61 victory by the Braves at Gladstone in the first meeting of the teams in early December.

Battle Of Centers

One of the features of the game is expected to come from the meeting of a pair of high-scoring pivots. Holy Name's Berrigan is pelting the hoops at a 27.25 average with 218 points in eight starts.

Gladstone's tall John Quinn has scored 124 points in five starts for a 24.8 average this season.

Along with Quinn, Gladstone coach Cappy Keil will open with regulars at all posts. Roger Carlson and Jack Beach will be at the forwards with Norman Butler and Larry Feldt at the guards.

The Crusaders will be striving to keep their home victory string intact. The St. Germain-men have won all three of their starts in the new Holy Name gym, defeating Escanaba, an Alumni team and Bishop Baraga.

Eagles At Gladstone

Holy Name also has a three-game win streak on the books with successive victories over L'Anse, Alumni and Bishop Baraga.

The Braves have a two-fold problem on their hands this week-end. They entertain the rugged Stephenson Eagles tonight before taking on Holy Name Saturday. Gladstone has an impressive 5-1 record to date, the lone defeat coming at Munising, 55-53 on Dec. 17. Victories were scored over Holy Name, Alumni, Manistique, Newberry and Escanaba.

Buckeyes Test Illinois Quint

COLUMBUS, Ohio. (P) — Ohio State and Robin Freeman try their talents Saturday against Illinois, battling to stay atop the Big Ten basketball race.

Freeman's 35.1 point average for nine games, tops in the country, is expected to weigh heavily in the Big Ten's weekly televised game (CBS-2 p.m. CST).

In what looks like a close game, Ohio State aims to improve its 1-1 conference record, while the Illinois share top conference marks with Iowa, Minnesota and Michigan, Illinois has a 2-1 conference record. Illinois' top scorer, Bill Ridley, has season average of 15.6. Bruce Brothers is runnerup with 14.1.

Freeman, the OSU standout, will be joined by forward John Miller with a 19.2 average, but behind these two the Ohio State offensive punch drops.

The Buckeyes, however, will be playing on their home floor where they have won all four starts this season. Ohio's overall record is 6-3, Illinois' 8-2.

Probable starting lineups with players' numbers in brackets:

Illinois Pos. Ohio State
Brothers (32) f Miller (17)
Paul Judson (24) f Kelley (6)
Bonsalle (22) c Ropes (8)
Ridley (11) g Freeman (24)
Altenberger (20) g Ellis (4)

Escanaba Boxers Show Form At Iron Mountain

Escanaba Golden Gloves boxers engaged in a four-bout tuncup session at Iron Mountain last night in preparation for the Upper Peninsula Golden Gloves tournament which will open here Jan. 31.

Escanaba boxers led the fighting in all bouts with less experienced fighters from the Iron Mountain stable coached by Ray Mariucci.

In the no-decision matches, Jim Brown of Escanaba faced Jim Casanova; George Hurley of Escanaba boxed Al Best and Vic Sopina of Escanaba traded punches with Jim Wall. Brown finished off the program with two fast rounds against team mate Al Swanson before a crowd of nearly 100 onlookers.

Argentine Golf Ace Goes 10 Under Par

PANAMA (P) — Argentine's long-hitting Roberto De Vicenzo posted a phenomenal 10-under-par 62 to take a three-stroke lead in the first round of the $7,500 Panama Open golf tournament here Thursday.

Shaw Wonders How To Halt Matson

LOS ANGELES (P) — "How can anyone really set up a defense to stop Ollie Matson?"

The inquiry comes from Buck Shaw, coach of the western division All-Stars. They will have the job of stopping Matson in Sunday's Pro Bowl game.

Big Ollie, who performs with the Chicago Cardinals during the regular season, is expected to carry a lot of the rushing load for the East in the battle. But with him in the backfield are two other great runners, Kyle Rote and Eddie Price of the New York Giants.

Add to that the fact that quarterbacking for the East will be a couple of great passers, Otto Graham of the champion Cleveland Browns and Adrian Burk of the Philadelphia Eagles.

Despite this opposition, Shaw complained: "I'm afraid the West squad is getting too confident." Shaw has plenty of offensive power in his own camp to throw against the East, coached by Jim Trimble. Shaw's quarterbacks are Norman Van Brocklin and Y. A. Little, who can throw for the distance on any given occasion. The rest of his backfield corps contains such aces as Doak Walker of Detroit, John Henry Johnson and Joe Perry of San Francisco's 49ers, Scott Quinlan of the Los Angeles Rams and Buddy Young of the Baltimore Colts.

Prior to the game, track fans will see Wes Santee, America's foremost miler, make another attempt to better four minutes for a mile run. His opposition includes Bob McMillen and Bob Terrill. Both have run the mile in less than 4:10.

The Dumont television network said it has been decided not to televise the game. A week ago Dumont announced it had purchased the TV rights.

European Mitt Champ In Debut

MIAMI BEACH (P)—Duilio Loi, European lightweight champion in pursuit of Jimmy Carter's world title, makes his American ring debut tonight and is a 2-1 favorite to defeat rough, aggressive Glen Flanagan of St. Paul.

The 10-round fight will be televised nationally (NBC) from the Miami Beach Auditorium, starting at 9 p. m. (CST).

Loi, rated as the No. 2 lightweight contender behind Paddy DeMarco, has an impressive record of 59 victories, three draws and only one defeat in European competition. Although the 24-year-old Italian is not a knockout hitter, he has stopped some of his opponents by cutting them up.

Although he has won 17 of his last 18 fights, unrated Flanagan hasn't met many dangerous lightweighters lately. Carter gave him a sound beating last August in Chicago.

Hawks Clipped, 10-4, In Rugged Clash At Palestra

MARQUETTE—The Marquette Sentinels rattled 52 shots at the goal of the Escanaba Hawks here last night and 10 of them seeped through Ben Artwich for a 10-4 victory in Northern Michigan Ontario League play.

On the other end of the rink, Marquette goalie Jack Pinder had a calm evening. The Hawks were able to put only 22 shots on goal and Pinder turned back 18 of them.

The keyed-up Hawks waged a furious battle in the first period in which they took a 1-0 lead at 11:35 when Mark Olson beat Pinder on assists from Buddy Provo and Steve Butorac. The goal came after a hectic scramble in front of the Marquette net.

Period Ends 2-2

The Sentinels trudged back to tie it at 16:44 when Bud VanOverloop found a hole in Artwich's defense and went ahead 2-1 on a shot by Johnny Vasseau at 17:05. With a minute and a half remaining in the first period Olson started pressuring Pinder when he picked up a loose puck and sailed in on goal. Pinder turned back the shot and a rebound but Aimo Muhonen flipped the rubber to Butorac who fired into the corner to catch Pinder flat-footed. The period ended in a 2-2 tie and the Hawks forced Pinder to stop 11 shots. Artwich had kicked out 12 at that stage of the game.

The game was rough through the period and Referee Matt Pavlich whistled three fouls on Escanaba and two on Marquette. Marquette fans showered the rink with debris and the Sentinels skated off the ice in protest over a misconduct penalty called on Sentinel Dan Crowley, last year's head ref in the league.

Ricci Ties It 3-3

The Hawks kept pace with Marquette early in the second period in which the teams traded goals. The Sentinels scored first on Roy Olson's shot at 2:16. Joe Ricci, back in action after a month's absence, tied it again at 3-3 when he took a pass from Olson and fired from just inside the blue line to beat Pinder.

That shot was one of only four the Hawks got off in the second period and after the three-minute mark it was all Marquette. The Sentinels scored four goals in the remainder of the period as the Hawks played with a man short most of the time. Successive penalties were called against Muhonen for kneeing, Stac for tripping and Joe Nogalo for tripping.

Escanaba's final goal came midway in the third period on the nearest maneuver of the night. Olson picked up the puck in his own zone and beat Marquette's defensemen across center ice. He whipped in on Pinder at full speed and scored easily.

Penalties Hurt

The Hawks were also handicapped by penalties in the final period with Nogalo, Butorac and Olson in the box. In all, the Hawks had nine penalties called on them by Pavlich while Marquette sat out four.

Olson's two goals and an assist led the Hawks in scoring while Gail Lawrence and Jim Sweeney scored twice for Marquette.

The Hawks will return to league action Sunday afternoon at Dee Stadium against the Portage Lake

Bob Feller Signs 17th Indian Pact

CLEVELAND (P)—Pitcher Bob Feller, six times a 20-game winner and the American League's oldest player in point of service, today signed his 17th contract with the Cleveland Indians. He told reporters he signed for about the same amount he got last year, between $30,000 and $35,000.

The 36-year-old right-hander joined the Tribe 19 years ago—in 1936 at the age of 17. He has played with the Indians continuously since then, with the exception of three years he served in the Navy during World War II.

Things Looking Up For Maryland's Cage Quint

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
It's getting to look more and more like this might be the basketball season for Maryland—now on a nine-game winning streak capped by a 68-64 upset of highly regarded North Carolina State.

NCS was rated No. 2 in this week's Associated Press poll.

The 11th-ranked Terps got superb clutch work from Bob Kessler and sophomore Bob O'Brien for a 9-point winning rally in the final five minutes. After Kessler, who topped scoring with 26 points, and O'Brien pushed Maryland into the lead, the twice-beaten Terps went into a freeze—an old North Carolina State bugaboo—and wrapped it up.

State, suffering its second defeat in 16 games, was hampered more than a little by the ineffectiveness of Ron Shavlik, usually high-scoring center. The 6-10 Shavlik, who sat out Tuesday's victory over Furman because of a virus attack, managed just two points before fouling out with 31 minutes left in the first half.

It was the only game involving a ranked team Thursday night and the victory shoved Maryland into a first place tie with defending champ NCS for the Atlantic Coast Conference lead.

Tennessee hit 53 per cent of its first-half field goal attempts for a 38-27 halftime lead and then had to go into a freeze to defeat Tulane 71-58 in a Southeastern Conference game.

Furman, the top-scoring team in major college ball, piled it on again to defeat Georgia Tech-conqueror of mighty Kentucky—by a 111-95 count.

Dillard, Stanfield In K. C. Track Meet

BOSTON (P)—Olympic title holders Harrison (Bones) Dillard and Stanfield are among the entries for Saturday's 29th K. C. track meet at Boston Garden.

Dillard, winner of the 100 meter run in the 1948 Olympics and the 120 high hurdles in 1952, has never been defeated in 45 heats and finals in Boston. He will compete in the 45 yard high hurdles which he has won six times in the K. C. each time in :05.6, the meet mark.

Stanfield won the 200 meter run at Helsinki in 1952, in :20.7 He's entered in the 50 yard dash.

Bowling's Match Game Championships Begin Saturday In Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—Bowling's rugged National Individual Match Game championships open Saturday with Don Carter of St. Louis, seeking an unprecedented third straight title, and queen Marion Ladewig topping a field of 224 stars.

Mrs. Ladewig, 40, of Grand Rapids, Mich., never has been beaten in the tournament. She has won in each of the previous five years since the women's division was added. She again is a top-heavy favorite in her bracket of 64 bowlers.

Nine-Day Action

The competition proper will extend through nine days, ending Sunday night, Jan. 23. A special team competition, including the entire field of 160 men and 64 women, will be held tonight as a prelude to the championship marathon. The meet is at the Coliseum, where an $80,000 set of new alleys has been installed.

In all, a total of nearly $14,000 in cash prizes will be distributed with $2,000 going to the men's champion and $600 to the feminine titlist. But the titles themselves will add much more cash to the winners through testimonials, exhibitions and so forth.

The first five days will be an elimination series slicing the field to 14 in each division. These top-scoring survivors then will join Carter, Mrs. Ladewig and the two 1954 runners-up, Bill Lillard of Detroit and Sylvia Wene of Philadelphia, in four days of match game play.

Former Pitcher

Carter, Lillard, Ladewig and Wene are exempt from the preliminary rounds but will bowl in special matches.

The 28-year-old Carter, who once was a pitcher in the Philadelphia Athletics farm system, is the second bowler in the tourney's history to have a chance for a third straight crown. The veteran trick-shot artist, Andy Varipapa of Hempstead, N. Y., won in 1946 and 1947 but was dethroned the next year by Connie Schwoegler of Madison, Wis.

State May Grab Grid TV Powers

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—A resolution calling for establishment of a six-man commission to control televising of home athletic events at the University of Michigan and Michigan State College was before the Michigan Legislature today.

Rep. John P. Fitzpatrick, Detroit Democrat, sponsored the resolution. The Commission would be known as the "Michigan Television Commission" and would be empowered to accept bids for televising home games at both institutions.

Under the proposal, the commission would not be under NCAA control.

"We think the resolution has a good chance of passing if H. O. (Fritz) Crisler (Michigan athletic director) is in favor of it," Fitzpatrick said. "We understand he would be ready to support the idea now."

Fitzpatrick said similar proposals had been introduced previously but were defeated largely because of opposition from Crisler. He said it was intended as a means of sidestepping NCAA control of home games at the two colleges.

Crisler was a leader in the recent Big Ten threat to bolt the NCAA if the conference was not given more power to pick its own television schedule. He was out of the state today, however, and unavailable for comment.

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—It is difficult to find fault with the resolution offered in the Arkansas Senate that takes a swipe at Bowden Wyatt, the football coach who arrived in a pickup truck two years ago and now has gone winging off to Tennessee in a chrome-trimmed job, a gift from the fans of the Razor-back State.

The resolution which was sent to the Resolutions Committee accuses the fast-moving mentor of "willfully and deliberately" breaking a contract which still had three years to run. It also says that Wyatt "destroyed the faith of thousands of Arkansas citizens for such qualities as loyalty and good sportsmanship on the part of athletic coaches."

At the time he decided to leave Arkansas, Wyatt said it was "a rough decision for me, but I'm going to a job I've always wanted. I just decided that if I ever was going back (to Tennessee) now was the right time to go. I talked to the president of the university (Arkansas) and to the athletic director. They were fine about it and told me whatever I did would be perfectly all right."

While sympathizing to a limited extent with Wyatt's desire to return to his old school at Knoxville where he gained fame as a player, we cannot but feel that the resolution states the facts pretty accurately.

Midway in the past season, when it became obvious that the Razor-backs were a better football team than they had been in perhaps 25 years and the fans of the state were beginning to get goose pimples, Wyatt's contract calling for $12,000 a year was torn up and he was guaranteed an extra $3,000 for each of the remaining three years called for by the document.

Then, as the Porks continued to mow 'em down, the fans really got steamed up and raised an "appreciation fund" of $20,000 for their wonder coach. To Wyatt's credit, he insisted that the fund be distributed among members of the athletic staff, clear down to the groundskeepers, and kept for himself only the gilded gas buggy.

It has been suggested that, if Arkansas was so doggone keen to keep the man who doggone went into overtime before the teams reached a decision. After the regulation time, the count was deadlocked at 91-all.

The Warrior-Laker struggle went into overtime before the teams reached a decision. After the regulation time, the count was deadlocked at 91-all.

The victory, however, did not help the Nats, who remained two percentage points behind the Boston Celtics in the eastern division race. The Celtics whipped the New York Knickerbockers in Philadelphia, 116-100. In the other game of the twin bill there, the Philadelphia Warriors defeated the Minneapolis Lakers, 102-96.

The Warrior-Laker struggle went into overtime before the teams reached a decision. After the regulation time, the count was deadlocked at 91-all.

It all comes down, perhaps, to whether a college coaching contract means anything. Maybe the coaches themselves at their next annual meeting might like to study the matter.

Five Fishermen Stranded On Ice

Five Garden fishermen were stranded on an ice floe this afternoon when the ice broke away at Big Bay de Noc.

The five men are Carroll Tarrow, Chester LaPine, Max Kreschke, Earl Cota and Paddy Gray. A strong offshore wind broke up the ice shortly afterward.

The five men are located on a large ice floe but the ice is very thin, varying from three to five inches. At 2:30 this afternoon a stretch of two miles of open water was between the shore and the ice floe with the stranded fishermen.

Garden residents reported the ice was breaking but the floe on which the five men were stranded was still very large.

Two Garden men, Billy Hermes and George Boudreau Jr., set out in a row boat in an effort to reach the stranded fishermen and return them to shore. There were no power boats ready for rescue service.

The strong south wind could be expected to drive the floe into packed ice at the head of big bay de Noc, fishermen said. There is the danger the ice might break up under the men before it touched solid shore ice, however.

At Escanaba there was no loss of equipment in the sudden shove of the ice into Little Bay de Noc. Andy Schwartz and his crew, of Wells, went out with a rowboat in an effort to pick up lines placed beneath the ice in preparation for setting nets.

L. H. Sonderman, who joined Harnischfeger in 1945 as tax manager was named Assistant Treasurer and Tax Manager. W. L. Carter, also, was named Assistant Treasurer. Carter joined the Harnischfeger Export Department in 1952.

A. W. Pipenhagen, vice-president of Builders Acceptance Corporation, a Harnischfeger subsidiary, was appointed to the Corporation executive committee.

At the annual meeting Bartlett S. Marimon, a partner of the law firm Kirkland, Fleming, Green, Martin and Ellis, Chicago, was elected to the Harnischfeger board of directors. ## Opossum In Plane

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Earl E. Jackson Jr., 30, Kansas City, couldn't raise the flaps on his light plane after landing here Thursday. An investigation traced the trouble to a homesteading opossum which was comfortably settled inside the plane. The animal had chewed through an electrical wire connected to the hydraulic flaps.

Chief UN Envoy Reports On Talks With Chou En-lai

first step in the continuing contact.

Hammarskjold said that in his opinion an improvement in the international climate was directly connected with the question of releasing the American fliers and other U. N. command personnel held by the Chinese Communists.

He stressed, however, that Chou had made no proposals or laid down any terms.

He said Chou's discussion of other questions was "entirely apart from the question of the prisoners."

"No deals of any kind, nor any link between these other questions and the prisoner question, were suggested by either side," Hammarskjold told reporters.

The secretary general declined to list specifically which questions Chou had brought up, but he said the Chinese leader had raised just about every issue that he has discussed in recent speeches, statements, and other expressions.

Hammarskjold was asked whether Chou had expressed concern over a possible attack on the Chinese mainland by the United States.

"One of the curious things about the present world situation is that everybody is afraid of everybody else," the secretary general said.

Asked whether Chou had brought up the question of Peiping representation in the U. N., Hammarskjold said this was covered by the previous statement that Chou had discussed almost everything.

The secretary general said the question of 35 Chinese students detained in the United States had not been made a condition for release of the American fliers.

Hammarskjold arrived here Thursday night and immediately conferred for an hour with Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., chief U. S. delegate. Later Lodge reported to Secretary of State Dulles, who in turn filled in President Eisenhower.

Savings Bond Sales Set Record In 1954

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Treasury said that savings bond sales set a peacetime record in 1954, with sales of $4,889,119,000 of series "E" and "H" bonds.

Individual holdings of these two bonds, the most commonly purchased, came to 38 1/2 billion dollars at the end of the year, the Treasury said. A total of just over 57 1/2 billion dollars was outstanding on Dec. 31 in all kinds of savings bonds.

The announcement said 1954 sales of series "E" and "H" bonds exceeded redemptions by 445 million dollars. This was the largest net gain for the Treasury in savings bond sales since 1949.

Series "E" and "H" sales last year were 521 million dollars higher than in 1953.

Wall Street

NEW YORK (AP)—In the quietest trading of the week, the stock market today pursued a narrowly mixed course.

There were a few changes either way going past a point, but most gains and losses were small.

Business progressed at a steady rate, but the pace was well under Thursday's 3,350,000 shares.

Beech Aircraft moved up on a high dividend, and also higher were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel, Chrysler, National Distillers, American Telephone, Anaconda Copper, Westinghouse Air Brake, and Sunray Oil.

Lower were General Motors, Montgomery Ward, Caterpillar Tractor, United Aircraft, Commonwealth Edison, Allied Chemical, General Electric, Baltimore & Ohio, Standard Oil (NJ), and Paramount Pictures.

U. S. government bonds were narrowly mixed.

Resources Conference Says Michigan Needs More Recreation Land

LANSING (AP)—Michigan must act immediately to plan for the future if the state's outdoors and natural resources are to be conserved.

That was the theme of more than 430 delegates attending a two-day Michigan Resources Conference.

Main problems were seen as the press of a growing population, the spill-over of Michigan cities into the suburbs and such dwindling natural resources as minerals, water, trees and even animals.

Conferees were unanimous in holding that the state should move to acquire more land to hold in trust for outdoor enthusiasts.

Separate discussion groups on land, water, wood, minerals, agreed that the first important step was a survey of present natural resource holdings. Most said the training and hiring of more experts and public conservation education were the next most important needs.

Several groups urged the charging of fees for the use of parks and recreation areas.

As somewhat of a surprise, the group approved continuation of the State Conservation Department control over the deer herd.

Members of nearly every group agreed that more conservation money—on both the state and federal level—was needed to assure the future of the state's natural resources.

Separate recommendations of the various groups will be presented for the guidance of the governor and the Legislature. Delegates agreed that the resources conference should be an annual affair.

They will debate the question, "Resolved: that the United States should initiate a policy of free trade among nations friendly to the United States."

Each team, negative and affirmative, will debate twice in today's rounds, making four debates a school. These debates will be judged by a single critic. The four top squads will compete in the semi-finals Saturday morning, and will be followed by the two top teams in the finals, which will be judged by three Northern Michigan faculty members.

A noon banquet on Saturday will conclude the two day debate tournament.
